ABSOLUTELY PURE.

A few of the many Good Reasons why CADBURY'S COCOA enjoys such World-wide Popularity.

- 1. It is guaranteed to be Pure Cocoa. It can be made instantly with boiling Milk or Water.
- 2. It is not reduced in value by the addition of Sugar, Syrup, or any other substance.
- 3. It is especially rich in Food-forming and strength-sustaining principles.
- 4. It contains all the delicious aroma of the Natural Article, without the excessive proportions of fat.
- 5. It is delicious, nutritious, digestible, comforting, and a refined beverage suitable for all seasons of the year.
- 6. It is a gentle stimulant. It sustains, enlivens, and refreshes the system. It is the whole process of manufacturing Cadbury's Pure Cocoa, the scientific machinery employed, and the necessity for its being once touched by the human hand.

KODUS OF GENTLEMEN FROM THE ROTHWELL AND WAKEFIELD DISTRICTS.

There must be something very attractive to our local gentlemen, somewhere in other parts of the country. If the codes are gone on, we shall have one of our familiar faces left. Perhaps the cause may be found in the increase of manufactures and consequent increase of smoke and other nuisances and also in the increase of population.

Changes have occurred in the following:

LITTONS PARK.—Mr. Charlesworth now lives most of his time in Scotland, and we hear that his house, park, and land, and outbuildings are left off, not that nothing is left to occupy, but the residence and garden. This is a great loss in many ways. First it is a loss to the poorer of the inhabitants, who used to benefit largely by Mr. Charlesworth's benevolence. The presence of Mr. Charlesworth being a magistrate, was of great service in parochial and other public affairs. The withdrawal of a gentleman from a village, means the withdrawal of a social influence and wealth, and making the village so much the poorer. Perhaps, however, it is the poorest of the inhabitants who will have reason to regret Mr. Charlesworth's absence, since, as the other classes, as a rule, are more able to take care of themselves, though all unite in deploring the loss.

HARTFIELD HALL.—Mr. John Benfield, Charlesworth, under the withdrawal of the Hartfield Hall, has left Hartfield Hall, Benfield, and taken up his residence in another part of the country. This is a great loss from the chain of gentlemen residents, and no doubt his removal will be regretted in many quarters.

OSWORTH PARK.—The park at Osworth is advertised to be sold off, in plots for building purposes, and it is presumed that the occupier, Mr. E. M. Carter, will soon leave the neighbourhood. Mr. Carter was a gentleman in politics, and a good supporter of the Osworth Club, which was formerly the residence of the eccentric Joseph Armitage, who, after building Osworth, had been sufficiently needed for a gentleman.

HEATH OLD HALL.—This grand old Elizabethan mansion, for the residence of Sir Edward Gordon, M.P., for Wakefield, a patentee, and a large employer of labour, has been for several years empty, and a charming history of the hall and its surroundings, was written by Lady Edward Gordon, while residing there.

KENTON HALL.—This hall was erected in 1850, by Mr. E. G. Wain, brother to Sir E. G. Wain. It was the property of Lord Granville, and was owned by Mr. T. K. Henderson, and is undergoing restoration, prior to that gentleman's residence there. It was for a long time the residence of the Nortons.

THOMPSON HALL.—Formerly occupied by Mr. E. South, it is now occupied by Mr. E. South, a retired industrialist, who has a very small household. The somewhat trees that shaded and gave retirement to the hall, and the garden, which was once a fine garden, have been blown down some years since, and it has now a very plain, and deserted appearance.

ANDREWS OLD HALL.—This was last occupied as a mansion by the late Anne Elford, founder (with Mr. Proctor) of Ashfield mill. It has now been used for some time as a residence for a family of four or five persons.

WAIN'S MANOR.—This occupied once was by the late John Wain, Esq., and was at other times by a housekeeper and an agent.

NEWS FROM NEW ZEALAND.

Oulton House,
Lower Hutt,
Wellington,
New Zealand.

Dear Mr. Editor,

My last letter to you was dated April 1st, and published on June 5th, so that I have the time that I have left you, no nine months will have passed since you wrote me. I am glad to hear that you have written to me twice a year, and that intention I am sure to try and make good. I am rather behind at this time, but I wanted to wait until Christmas was over before writing again, and of course the advent of a New Zealand year on December 30th, that being a day before the 1st of January, I had to write. I am glad to say another and little one is both doing well. I send a paper by the mail from which you will see my little boy had a very nice present made him by the Harebrough Mounted Rifles, in which troop he has the very good title of a "Buddy." I am naturally nothing but a father's hand, and think it was very kind of the boys to be so good as to welcome my little one to such a fashion—I have so much to tell you that I am afraid my letter will be a

...making element is to an old abbey hand at a big meeting you never see more than three or four, and they are quiet and don't dwell and about like the members of a church. The only thing of the betting is done in a machine called the "totaliser," so that it is more like a sweep in which you choose your own number and then there is a drawing up at home. Suppose there are horses in for a race, you horse of course is called a No. 1, you No. 2, that is the ordinary horse. Suppose you bet on
No. 1, you take a ticket with the number one, and suppose 1,000 people put on the ticket for No. 1, and suppose the machine, and suppose the horse number one wins, then that 40 people had put one pound, notes then £1,000, less 10 p.c. which goes to the racing club, is divided amongst the 40 people, so that each of them has £20 of some 20 odd pounds, this is of course in unusual dividend, but sometimes horses win and pay 50, 60, and 80 pounds and more. Suppose you bet on a horse and it never comes, you can risk his money with important in England, and without the fear of being watched. Everybody stands racing meetings here; they are more like horse fairs, and the races take altogether a more serious character. The horses are not, as in America, honestly, the courses are marvellous, the revenue from the totalisator permits the racing elite to keep up splendidly appointed courses. The race horses are quite equal to the best we have in America, and the jockeys display marvellous ability in their riding. Last Saturday's big meeting here, the last race, 2 miles, was run in 1 minute 37 seconds. By the way, enough about horse-racing; here and racing at home are two different things.

Colonial Secretary, who lives in Stutt.—Mrs. Stanley, who with him, does not relish the description of her beautiful grace.

the aid of a building fund of the Methodist Episcopal church at Houston, which was almost completed, it is supposed that the young lady was induced to give up her education. In furtherance of this object, the young lady was induced to take part in the fancy parade on the 10th of May, 1890, and her father and gentleman had kindly promised to be present, and with one exception, were present. The young lady, however, was not present, and in welcoming the charismat, Mr. James Hargreaves, stated that they often had a lady who was not present, and that she was on this occasion they had a "Mayo" to occupy the position of charismat.

At the same time, the young lady was given for their kind reception, and expressed her pleasure at being with them. Although she was not present, she was present, and well, it was in the same parish, and they felt much interested in the work done by the young lady, and they were very sorry they would not be present with the consequences of the death of a saint.

The young lady was then given a letter of introduction by Miss Lawson and Miss Seaton, "Great Globe Quadrangles," which was given to the young lady, and she was given a "Glossy in our Alley," which was given to the young lady, and she was given with much applause; in response to the young lady's request, she was given by Miss B. Seaton then pleased the saint with the beautiful song "Star of Bethlehem," which was given to the young lady, and she was given by Mr. Walter Hargreaves caused much merriment by his excellent rendering of a selection of songs, which was given to the young lady, and she was given by Miss F. THE COMING ELECTION.

Political parties are beginning to stir in this division, and meetings on both sides have already been held in various centres. Mr. B. Pickard, the sitting member, has not yet sufficiently recovered to be able to enter the fray, but his supporters are organizing themselves, and in two or three places solutions of confidence have been mutually carried. The Conservative candidate

Mr. Percy Tew, is making himself known to the electors, and his claim and abilities are being placed before meetings in the Division.

As is our custom, we shall raise an independent position in the matter, and endeavour to set forth the merits of the candidates, and advantages against both the candidates, if

Mr. Pickard is a strong Radical and Labour candidate. The Conservative candidate

ELECTION ITEMS.

The anticipations of a dissolution of Parliament before the end of this month, and the immediate prospect of a general election, are now more definitely settled, and in his speech last Monday, the Leader of the House of Commons, and first Lord of the Treasury indicated that the present Parliament will finish its labours by about next Friday.

The first week or two in July, therefore, will be occupied in struggles all over these islands, between opposing candidates and their general supporters, as to whether the next Government shall be headed by Lord

Salisbury or Mr. Gladstone.

On Wednesday evening, the Duke of Argh was entertained at Leeds by the Yorkshire Liberal Unionist Federation, and made a political speech in which he strongly upheld his position as a Liberal Unionist, and while decidedly opposed to Mr. Gladstone on the Irish question, declared his continued warm and unabated friendship with his former opponent, and Mr. Gladstone also spoke on the same side, while Mr. G.

W. Rafter M.P. responded to the toast of our Conservative Alliance.

MR PERCY TEW AT STOUTON.

The Unionist candidate held a meeting in the Board School-room, at Stouton, on Wednesday evening, when the place was filled with a large number of the local electors. The candidates for the Stoughton Division were Mr. T. W. M. Standford, Mr. W. H. Hargreaves, Mr. G. H. Haythorn, Mr. Walter Hargreaves, Mr. Shuttleworth, Messrs. J. Oliver, W. Wright, H. J. Smith, J. Hargreaves, B. Clarke, W. Fawcett, W. Lawton, and other local gentlemen.

Mr. W. J. Coates, of Stouton, occupied the chair, and in a brief but cordial address warmly recommended Mr. Percy Tew, the Unionist Parliamentary candidate for the Stoughton Division, speaking highly of his personal qualifications, his business capacity, and his general grasp of public matters. Mr. Tew, on rising, was warmly applauded, and before entering on his address expressed his deep regret that Mr. Pickard was not well, but hoped that he would soon be recovered, and fully prepared to fight his own battles. In politics, however, it was not so much the man as the party he represented, that he considered, and he would therefore proceed with a consideration of the subject.

The question now before the division was whether they wanted to keep Lord Salisbury in power, whether they were satisfied with things as they were, or whether they should change. If they elected Mr. Pickard, they would be supporting a man who was not well, but hoped that he would soon be recovered, and fully prepared to fight his own battles. In politics, however, it was not so much the man as the party he represented, that he considered, and he would therefore proceed with a consideration of the subject.

On the other hand, he rested his claim of support for Lord Salisbury's Government on the present state of affairs in the country. The people had received. They had only to look back to see since 1886 the working classes had had more comfortable homes, more comfortable wages, and more comfortable homes, while the condition of their lives was better.

As to the Government, he considered that good administration and good government was after all, the object of the Government. The Government's capacities were not the mere passing of Acts of Parliament. But even the latter point the Government could not do without the support of the people.

Edinburgh, the other day, had nearly everything to do with the whole of the House.

The Conservatives were waiting for the report of the Labour Commission, and there was every intention to legislate on its recommendations. That Commission was very fully constituted, and they were added to Lord Salisbury's Government.

There was another matter which the Government had promised to take in hand, and that was the immigration of foreign paupers. Every month immense numbers of foreigners—Jews, Greeks, Russians, and others—were landed in London and sent to the workhouses of the country.

Mr. W. Hargreaves, on being called upon to make a resolution of confidence, was warmly welcomed, and expressed his sense of pride in being honoured with such a duty in regard to Mr. Tew, the Unionist candidate.

He said that Mr. Pickard was a man of high character, and that he had no doubt that he would be a great asset to the country. He said that Mr. Pickard was a man of high character, and that he had no doubt that he would be a great asset to the country.

Mr. J. G. Haythorn supported the resolution in a capital address, in which he pointed out the advantages of the improved condition of Ireland compared with six years ago; boyotting had nearly disappeared, the production of the country had increased, and the credit of the country had been established.

He declared that no one knew what Home Rule meant, not even Mr. Gladstone himself, and yet they were asked to postpone all other legislation until this unknown measure of Home Rule was passed.

In reply to questions, Mr. Tew said he was decidedly in favour of an alteration in the law for the registration of marriages, and that he would look after their best interests in the matter.

THE ELECTIONS.

As Mr. Balfour has now definitely stated that Parliament will be dissolved by Tuesday, the 28th, the writs will probably arrive in the constituencies on the following day.

Nominations for boroughs will be received on July 2nd or 3rd, and elections will take place between the 4th and 8th. In the country, the nomination days will range from the 4th to the 7th, and all elections will be over by the 18th July.

LIBERAL MEETING AT WOODLESFORD.

Last night, the electors of Woodlesford, held a meeting in the Board School, in support of Mr. J. C. Pickard, the sitting member for this division. Mr. J. T. Lygo, (chairman of the local Association) presided; and there were also present—Mr. J. D. Acland, M.P., for the Rothwell Division; Mr. H. Cowper, President of the Yorkshire Miners' Association; Mr. J. C. Pickard, the sitting member for this division; Mr. J. C. Pickard, the sitting member for this division; Mr. J. C. Pickard, the sitting member for this division.

Mr. W. Hargreaves, on being called upon to make a resolution of confidence, was warmly welcomed, and expressed his sense of pride in being honoured with such a duty in regard to Mr. Tew, the Unionist candidate.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

WHEATSTON QUARTERLY MEETING.—The quarterly meeting of the Wheatston Wesleyan Church was held on Wednesday evening, at 7.30, at the Wesleyan Hall, when a large number of the members and friends were present. The services were conducted by Mr. J. C. Pickard, the sitting member for this division.

Mr. W. Hargreaves, on being called upon to make a resolution of confidence, was warmly welcomed, and expressed his sense of pride in being honoured with such a duty in regard to Mr. Tew, the Unionist candidate.

cry and lament.

"Ob," said Uncle Rabbitt, "why should I not cry and lament? The world is going to be destroyed to-day, and all of us will perish!"

"When the children heard this they began to cry with their tears. Then he returned to God. When the father saw the three or bushes, with the smoke, the weeping, and tears, he said:

"Uncle Rabbitt, you are more cunning than any one else; why do you want to be told? But as you wish it, I will at least make you ears larger."

"Saying so, he pulled Uncle Rabbitt's ears and they grew large, ramshorn large."

THE FIRST SNOW

The first fall of snow lay on the ground, night it had been coming down incessantly silently, flake on flake, until the smoke grills town lay wrapped in a mantle of sparkling day. Here and there could be seen the footprints of the early birds, who surely must have expected to catch the trail with such a morning as this, when waves of white snow covered the road and way.

Such as the daily work began, and the rumbled up and down the streets, there

Sole Agent for Rothwell and District

There is probably no extravagance greater than that of drinking inferior and low-priced Tea. Better by far drink one cup of really fine Tea than a gallon of common, which is at once an insult to your palate and a source of serious injury to your digestion.

Sold only by Leading Grocers throughout the United Kingdom.
MAZAWATTEE TEA COMPANY, 49 & 51, Eastcheap, LONDON, E.C.

DOING IT BY DEGREES.
When Lord Mankrook sailed to Newfoundland, he took with him as a volunteer surgeon was greatly addicted to drinking, and my being very sensible of it, and very familiar George, said to him one day: "Remember you will not leave off the abominable use of liquor, whereas—"
"I can't help it," says the other.
"Foolish!" says my lord. "It may be done by degrees. Suppose you were to begin by uttering nothing a day."

COULD NOT HIT HIM.
 "You say that the prisoner threw stones at me?"
 "Yes, sir. He threw over a dozen at me."
 "Did any of them hit you?"
 "No, sir, I dodged them."
 "How far was the prisoner from you when he threw them?"
 "About twenty feet."
 "And do you mean to say that the prisoner is a dozen stones at you at a distance of twenty feet and that he can't hit you?"
 "Yes, sir. You see I am a base ball umpire and can't be dodged."
 "Yes, I see; I thought there was some reason you not being hit."

A DAYLIGHT BURGLARY.
 Murphy's! she gasped as she entered the officer's room at police head quarters the other evening!
 "Two hours ago! And right before my eyes
 I've seen you get your breath, ma'am, and give me particulars."
 "Well, sir," said she, after a few gasps to get close, "I was standing looking out of the window and happened to follow some across the street and happened to grab. I knew he was a burglar the moment I saw him, and I kept my eye on him. He looked up and down the street and around corners, and then—then, sir, he—"
 "Wasn't the front door locked?"

"Oh, yes."
"Then how did he get in?"
"He didn't get in, sir, but he grabbed my pants off the doortop and was gone before I could down stairs."
HE DIDN'T KNOW WHAT WAS THE MATTER.
"Hello, Samuels! You shove yourself now,
you, Bromley."
"Why were you talking to when I entered?"

To so what.
 Not—banned volume.
 Very. Very. Very. The shaving went awful and I couldn't conceive what was the matter.
 I began to talk like my car and had no sense about it.
 You cannot get a ride into a walk.
 Her moment is here to stay.
 I'm not in the mood of the death.
 on the fly—The compact mirror.
 use late for the late—An old backbone.
 I'm not in the mood of the death between animal and vegetable kingdom.
 matrimony—wed—If you cannot marry the man, well, let it will wait you.
 It is a lot of time and so people in a room.
 I have it is incomplete without a friend.
VERY RARE HEADS, WHY? The mystery was less than a head. It is the mystery head covered with hair and the head is the head of the head.
 I have it and give the only hair remedy, just from the head of the head.

EXTRAORDINARY HALLUCINATION.
Malebranche, a celebrated philosopher of the seventeenth century, was for a long time the victim of a singular notion. He fancied that he had an enormous leg of mutton attached to the end of his nose.
A friend would shake hands with him and exclaim: "How is M. Malebranche to-day?"

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

At a Berlin theatre a spectator was heard remark that the ballerina was dancing a polka.

"What a splendid figure!"

Whereupon his next neighbour made a bow and thanked him.

"Ah!" exclaimed the first, "I suppose you see the young lady's father?"

"No."

"Her brother?"

"No."

"Who, then, are you?"

"I am the wedding manufacturer."

A man must first govern himself as he believes in a family; and his family are he believes in the government in the one and the other.

For Scrofula, Scabby, Eczema, Pimples, Skin and Blood Diseases and Sores of all kinds, it is a never-failing and permanent cure.

It Cures Old Sores.
Cures all Contused Sores on the Neck.
Cures Chancered Legs, Legs,
Cures Ecthyma, or Pimples on the Face.
Cures Scabby Head.
Cures Obscure Ulcers.
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
Cures Obdurate Glands.
Cures the Blood from all impure sources,
From whatever men are arising.
It is a real specific for Gout and Rheumatic pains.
It removes the cause from the Blood and Bones.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and wears away from anything injurious to the most delicate system, it is the best, and the Proprietors solicit customers to give it a trial to test its value.

SHOULD ALL SEATS IN THE HOUSE OF GOD BE FREE, OR RENTED?

To the Editor of the Bethwell Times.

Thinking that the discussion of this subject might be interesting and profitable to a large number of your readers, and especially those interested in the various places of worship, I would with your permission, introduce the question. I am quite of the fact, that, for a young person to advocate the abolition of meat diets in all places of worship is likely to meet with the disapproval and disfavor of the orthodox and conservative members of the Christian Church, who think it would lead to financial embarrassment and immorality. I know that the chief and only object of treating pigs is manure; but is it true that people will only give to Church, when they have a special privilege granted them of sitting in well conditioned pigs? Surely there are some who give on Christian principles, we would not withhold their support on account of such an alteration in the customs of the Church. The question of finance is brought before us as an insurmountable obstacle to the adoption of free seats, which I think is only an imagined one, a phantom which would fade away as we approached it. I have never yet heard a valid reason given as to "Why the renting of seats at various prices," should be continued. But perhaps I may, through the medium of my paper; although at present it appears to me, a misplaced anxiety, which is an unnecessary hindrance.

many men who might attend the house of God, but who fear lest they should trespass, and meet the scornful and disinterested look of the ruler of the law. Well, but you say, "there are persons in my place. If not all," that are free." Certainly, but what about their salvation? I often find it pretty easy to distinguish the free ones. For they are generally either just under the pulpit, where if you gaze long the preacher your neck aches, or else near the door where you are witness to the daughter, or even the son where you are together as worshipers and participants in the sacraments, and where you are to be contacted with hearing small portions of the sermons. Why should a difference be made between those who can pay, and those who cannot? - We should the poor be obliged to occupy such conspicuous yet undesirable positions in God's House. If this is a person who merits a free seat, it is the unpunctual attender, and not because a person is poor. If church members wish to have a few seats free, for the poor and strangers; why not make some of the free, of which there shall be more seats.

no, if you can pay, it is "some both here and all is good place; if not " then there is a reserved seat for you," similar to those I have just mentioned. I hope, Sir, that the time will come when these marked distinctions shall be unknown, when every seat will be accessible by rich and poor alike. I have now exhausted the subject by far, but I fear I am taking up too much of your space. Hoping I shall have another opportunity of advancing arguments in favor of what I regard as the best and most equitable

Yours very respectfully,
THOS. W. SPURR.

MORE SANITATION.

Rothwell, Aug. 29th, 1884

To the Editor of the Rothwell Towns,

Dear Sir,

I have heard of many cases of peculiar ailments affecting generally strong and healthy workmen, the last week or two. Is it the spell of the weather that we have had recently, or may the reason be found in some other cause. The Medical Officer of the Leeds Corporation publishes a warning which we at Rothwell may usefully consider. Rothwell is unpleasant in the drainage system capable of much safety if properly followed up. At the same time I have some vile smells in our midst which may

...the most solid esters such as cabbage leaves, home-table refuse. It is no use telling them to put slops down the gutter outside the house, and burn the cabbage leaves, bones and table refuse; they cannot see it.
Then there is the pig with its unsanitary pig sties,
the lat outside the cottage door with the "slop" resulting as combustible steam, poisoning the air of the whole neighborhood. And there is the domestic gully outside the cottage door, into which the pipes deliver, left year after year uncleaned or ill as was leaving orders that those galleys must be cleaned by the householder. It won't do it. It is Katsuyasu's question, and the servant of the Lord heard will have to do it, or it will be left undone, hitherto, save in rare cases. Also those deep paperous galleys, which the Lord heard supplied years ago, when we had some, and were a great mistake ever to adopt. They ought to be replaced by the Local Board with the modern gutter and sewage. Gentlemen of the Local Board, I appeal to you. You are elected by the ratepayers, and those are ratepayers' questions. In your election appeals you promised to make the public health your first consideration. I have point out to you one too crying evil; make them swiftemen, and we will look upon you as local benefactors. (—)

1st—the domestic pig and his drainage.
2nd—the well tub.
3rd—the slope in the scaph.
4th—the uncovered scaph.
5th—the undrained scaph.
6th—the streaming of the gully into which the pipe delivers.
7th—the deer capacious gullies which the Lord Board 1-2 years ago supplied, which hold mud,—a great mistake.

THROAT IRRITATION AND COUGH.—Severest dryness, itching and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Kopp's Glycerine Lubes. In contact with the glands at the throat they are excreted by the act of sneezing. Kopp's Glycerine in these agreeable combinations becomes actually healing. Sold only to doctors. Price 12c. per bottle.

Labelled "JAMES EGGES & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Dr. George Moore, in his work on "Nose and Throat Diseases," says: "The Glysterine Jaques prepared by James Egges and Co., are of undoubted service as a corrective and palliative agent," while Dr. George Holmes, Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary writes: "after an extended trial, I have found your Glysterine Jaques of considerable benefit in almost all forms of throat disease."

Wash up breakfast, dinner, and tea services with Hedson's Soap. Makes grease fly! Never clean a pure dry soap in fine powder. Leaves no smudges. Makes knives, forks, spoons, and anything washed with it scrupulously clean and sweet, thus greatly increasing the pleasure and safety of eating and drinking. Sold only in packets. Ask your Grocer for a dozen.

not tooth-ach, produces a pleasant labor, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, and loosens the teeth. It gives to the system a peculiar purity, whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odor arising from decayed teeth or impure breath. "The Fragrant Floriline," being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 1s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot, at Parvianus Road, London.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your mind by a sick child suffering with the pain of colic? Take the cure at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINDSOR'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy.

THESE AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS—An suffer from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be greatly surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold in most respectable chemists in this country at 25c. per box. People troubled with a hoarse voice a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, account for them too much, as leading troubles. If allowed to go on, result in serious Fluorisy and Asthmatic attacks. See that the words "Brown's Respiratory Treatment" are on the Government Stamp abroad or not.—Prepared by JAMES I. BROWN & SONS, 30, Strand, U.S. Dispensary Depot, 22, Finsbury Road, London.

What the Doctors say!

"I certify that I have analysed samples of Ceylon Teas submitted to me by the Mazawattee Ceylon Tea Company, 49 & 51, Eastcheap, London.

"A detailed analysis is appended. "I find that the Theine, upon which the refreshing properties of tea depend, is quite equal to that in the finest tea imported, whilst the Tannin, which makes ordinary Tea disagree with many constitutions, is in very much smaller quantities in the Mazawattee Ceylon Tea.

"Many dyspeptics, who are obliged to avoid ordinary tea, find they can drink this with great relish, and feel no nervousness or distress after its use."

"W. L. EMMERSON, M.D.,
Member of the Society of Public Analysts, Analyst for the Counties of Leicester,
Northampton, &c."

The serious inroads that Dyspepsia has made amongst the community of late years are largely due, the doctors assert, to the indulgence in cheap and inferior teas in which many harmful elements are contained. Why so many persons should continue to be thus deluded is hard to understand, seeing that there is only the difference of a few pence per pound between the rubbish and the really good teas.

MAZAWATTEE

is the tea that the most eminent Physicians and Professors of Hygiene all cordially unite in certifying to be of the best and purest growth. It is mainly the product of the finest tea-producing regions of Ceylon, and contains all the daintiness and beauty of flavour of the delicious Teas of Thirty Years Ago. Mazawattee, indeed, forms in itself a complete answer to all tea detractors, and those who use it will find that it will mean to them

GOOD TEA & GOOD DIGESTION.

The Mazawattee Teas can be obtained through Specially Appointed Agents, LEADING FAMILY GROCERS THROUGHOUT THE UNITED KINGDOM.

What The Medical Press say!

From "HEALTH."

"The Mazawattee Tea, certified as regards their purity and the small amount of Tannin they contain, as well as regards the high proportion and quality of their Theine (the active principle of all teas) by Dr. Emerson, Public Analyst for the County of Leicester, &c., really fulfil all the conditions distinguishing genuine high-class teas. Their aroma is excellent and pleasant. They infuse readily, and there is no bitterness or astringency in their taste. That these Teas are most suitable for invalids there can be no question, and the brands sold by the Mazawattee Company should, if merit alone had its due, take a first prize among the products of the East. I know of no more pleasant or really dietetic teas than those of the Mazawattee Brand, and those of the invalids who may be in search of a means for producing the cup that cheers but not inebriates, in typical perfection, should certainly give these teas a fair and unprejudiced trial."

AN INDULGENT POULTERER

A correspondent asked a lady, who went to a poultryer's shop to buy a hen. She wanted to buy a fine

The old lady at first stoutly refused the bargain but no other goose was to be had, and at last she was content to purchase the pair, hoping that these kind Samaritan would relieve her of the second one.

"The reason for her mother's extraordinary directions with reference to the purchase.

"Well, now," said the girl, "the greens have lived together eleven years, and mother thought it would be a sin and a shame to part them now."

"DIAMONDS LENT BY THE HOUR OR DAY.

"Yes," said a fashionable jeweler the other day.

"Washington women have some of the finest diamonds in the country."

"Do you lend them out?"

"Where a lady has absolutely no security offer, we lend her a paste outfit for twenty-five dollars. We take care about the mounting of the diamonds, as you would be surprised if I told you how much admiration has been attracted to them."

"One young ballie from Iowa was proposed to a German baron, who saw our paste 'cutti' on his glorious neck and arms. So delighted was he with her that he procured her an invitation to the next reception at the German mansion. On the day of her reception she came here wrapped in an airtight waterproof, and with sparkling eyes asked for the same 'cutti.' It has been loaned but two hours before. She was in despair and told me the story. I am not sentimental, but I had an idea, said:

"I am sorry I cannot let you have that one, but I have another set nearly as good. It is the best I can do."

"It was of real diamonds, but I did not tell her so. She did not like them quite as well as the others."

others. I sent my delectable, kind and adorable young girl's story. The next day she came in radiant and said with a laugh:

"The baron liked them better than the others!"

"He asked me if I owned a diamond mine."

"Well, she married the baron. Ah, she was lucky. Hearing of her grand match, her uncle, the railroad Croesus of Minnesota, gave her a diamond bracelet worth a thousand dollars."

"The first purchase she made was the real 'oldie'!" said the captured her husband.

THE CARTER'S HELPMATES.

It was the frequent habit of George III. to wander about the neighbourhood of Windsor, the doghouse unattended, and frequently accompanied by a young man, who was his almost inseparable companion. One morning they were pursued in their walk, in their usual manner, when they

The prince sprang back, and with little show of ceremony, began applying his strength to the wheel, his majesty's edict for the soldiers to retreat to a distance instantly after stepping forward in his own service.

Encouraged by this unlooked for help, the coach stopped and bawled to his horses, while the rest of his shoulders heaved as heartily as the man Hercules—most, not, he thought, of his ship-chaps—moaned, his aid—gave them strength enough to accomplish what they desired; the way was extricated, and the driver, gratefully

His friends arose readily that they must take place of us with him, offering at the same time to sit in the front of his cart to the next place.

This civil offer was not accepted, the king prince shew the dust of their late labour from his plain clothing, and prepared to bid their friends adieu; but first his majesty presented the fortitude of his friends with a guinea, which the prince himself would not have given, but for the sake of some worthy gift, instantly amended by a couple of his own rings.

The carter, lost in astonishment, stood looking after these surprising hospites: (first making them all graceful, though very sincere acknowledgments, and it was not till they had got thirty paces of his sight, that he was able to think himself of any matter to say to his wife.)

On arriving at the public-house which he had destined as the place of his rejected train, and lating a wonderful occurrence that had taken place, he was acquainted with the quality of assistants, but he could in no way be brought to believe that the king would be deceived. But all he insisted that, though the king might be the prince, yet the king could not be king; for he argued, why else did the first king turn guineas, when the second, whose heir-formants would have to be the greater, gave only one? No, this was not what he phrased, and he was convinced that his friend was wrong.

The story, and especially the man's obesity was talked of till it reached the king, who greatly amused.

Some time after, his majesty met the same man on the road, and he asked him:

"So you think, my friend, my present was a king's present, though my son's might do."

prince say! but remember that I must be before I am generous; the prince has only to think about, but I have many who look up to you as children at school, and I must not let them down. And, as you said, I must be a good morning?" and the monarch once left John Carter to his cogitations.

BOLOMON'S JUDGMENT IN CHINA

Two women came before a mandarin in China, each of them protesting that she was the mother of a little child they had brought with them. They were so eager and so positive that the mandarin was sorely puzzled. He retired to consult his wife, who was a wise and clever woman. His opinion was held in great respect in the neighborhood.

"I have requested five minutes in which to deliberate," said the mandarin, "and I have decided."

"Leche corrante catch me a large flat fish river, and let it be brought home alive."
This was done.
"Bring me now the infant," she said.

ST. JOHN'S, OULTON.
CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

During the past few days, a series of sermons, in connection with the Church Missionary Society, has been carried on at St. John's, Oulton. On Wednesday evening, November 30th, a special service of intercession was held, when the preacher was the Rev. T. Conlon, missionary to China, who, in the course of his address, described the steady progress of missionary work in that country, and interpreted his remarks by illustrations of how it was carried on by incidents from his own experience.

On Friday evening, December 2nd, a Missionary Meeting was held at the National School-room, when a lecture on "Western India" was delivered by the Rev. H. E. Egan, secretary to the Church Missionary Society for the Diocese of Eborac. Additional interest was provided in the lecture by a magic lantern, in which slides were shown representing life in Bombay, Madras, &c., and descriptive of the habits and customs of those strange regions where the missionaries' work was carried on.

On Monday last, December 4th, the annual sermons were preached in aid of the Church Missionary Society by the Rev. H. Egan, who pleaded earnestly with his hearers for a larger degree of missionary zeal, and a fuller obedience to the Divine command "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." A scholars' service was held in the afternoon, and the sum raised by the offertories during the year was £27 0s 2d. In addition £24 8s 6d. was raised by missionary boxes, amounting of which had been held at the year's end. The Rev. C. H. Badcock, vicar of the Rectory, preached to a fair congregation on "The duty of intercession for missions."

THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL.
MEETING AT WOODSFOOT.

A meeting in connection with the above Society, was held in the Board School on December 1st. The chair was taken at 7.30 p.m., by the Vicar, who, in his opening address, explained that it should be remembered that the first object of the Society was to minister to those who had emigrated from England to her colonies and dependencies.

The Chairman then introduced the Rev. J. Manning, of the Diocese of Cape of Good Hope, in the Dominion of Canada, who sustained the interest of the audience for an hour, and an exceedingly interesting and instructive account of his own work amongst the natives and Red Indians. The effect of the teaching of the doctrine and principles of Christianity amongst the Red Indians was shown in a few years, by the change in their habits and actions. The chair was taken at 7.30 p.m., by the Vicar, who, in his opening address, explained that it should be remembered that the first object of the Society was to minister to those who had emigrated from England to her colonies and dependencies.

At the close of the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Manning, by Mr. Hampshire, seconded by Mr. Trinder, and carried unanimously.

THE EFFECTS OF MORAL PERSUASION.

FARMER GASELL SUCCEMDED AT LAST

promising to be as strict here as his father had been at home. "I don't want you to come and see a change in Sally," she began to tell him. "I don't want you to come a-bow on her Bunty bonnet, and then give to go to messing. After that, you must be sent to school, and that at the very least. When you begin to be worth something about home, I'll be glad to have you. But you must come every week to teach her music." "Well, Allen said, avoiding a sudden reply to Gaskill. "I'll be glad to do that. But I don't care to draw away on newspapers it were waster to tell. I never heard of their doing any good. The time is better spent in teaching the child. She will be enough to raise a hundred pounds of potatoes in a year. I'll be glad to do that. I'll bargain at my price."

"What about the subject and son left neighbour Gaskill to his fiancée."

About three months afterwards however they again met. "What's the little fellow doing during the intermedium time."

"He's a good fellow. What's he?" asked Mr. Allen.

"I said it was done yesterday."

"How much did you get for it?"

"Eighty-five."

"Why, I thought that every one knew that the price had advanced to ninety."

"To Wakel, the storekeeper in Broom. He met me before yesterday, and asked me if I had sold my crop yet. I said I had not. He then offered to take it at eighty-five cents. The market is so low, and I said might as well take it as there are doubtless little chance of it rising. Yesterday he met over his wagon and took it away."

"This was hardly fair in Wakel. He come to me also, and offered to buy my crop at eighty-five. But I had just received my newspaper, in which I saw that the consequence of the low market was that the grain had gone up. I asked him ninety-five, which after some haggling he consented to give."

"Did he pay you ninety-five cents?" enright to take advantage of a man's ignorance," he cannot be justified in his conduct," replied Mr. Alton. "It is not right for one man to take advantage of another's weakness. But does not any man deserve to be treated in this manner? I know there are people in the world where he knows there are always enough ready to avail themselves of his weakness. I have seen men who would spend two dollars for the use of a newspaper for a whole year, you would have been in the same way. I have seen men who would give five dollars: Think of that! Mr. Wakeful takes advantage of the weakness of the ignorant. It is almost impossible to make good bargains with some half dozen others around here who have no money. I have seen men who would give only one avenue of information on all subjects—the newspaper."

"What would you propose?" asked Gaskill with some concern in his voice.

"I would give you a list of the best cooking measures for the last ten days. The best from the prices they are bringing in Philadelphia. I am sure the articles they are worth about thirty cents each."

"About thirty! Why, I sold to Washington about twenty-six cents!"

But to proceed; two weeks ago Mr. Black saw an advertisement in the paper for a young lady to teach music, and some other branches in the

An Iowa farmer got a new hat that he could grow on the railroad track with his team before the train came up. He lost by ten feet. The man who bet with him, however, wasn't satisfied. He said the old crier had to come to the station and make any provision for the payment of the bet.

If a man is getting shaved in a barber's shop and a fly alights on his nose, and he gives him a bound a kick to remove the fly, during which the barber removes a slice of the man's ear, who is to blame—the man, or the barber, or the fly, or the ear, or the razor?
